

The Product Breakdown Structure contains all the components defined for the system. Detailed description of components and related functional allocations can be accessed via the link in the box compartment.